Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. vii
Abbreviations ...................................................................................................................................... ix
Introduction, Msgr. Paul Watson ........................................................ 1
  United with Christ
  The Characteristics of Divine Pedagogy
  Divine Pedagogy and the Law
  The Divine Pedagogy and Prayer

PART 1: PRELIMINARY CONSIDERATIONS
1: The Key to Christian Pedagogy, Cardinal Antonio Cañizares Llovera ............ 11
2: An Original Pedagogy for Catechesis, Petroc Willey ................................. 15
  The General Directory for Catechesis
  Pedagogy, Content, and Method Distinguished
  Divine Pedagogy as Governing Inspiration
  The Originality of the Pedagogy
3: The Pedagogue and the Teacher, Petroc Willey ........................................... 29
  Teaching, Learning, and Communication
  Scriptural Understanding
  Divine and Human Agency: The Trinity, the Church, and the Role of the Catechist
  The Road to Emmaus and the Annunciation
4: The Pedagogy of God: Aim and Process, Petroc Willey ............................... 51
  Children of the Father
  From Childishness to Childlikeness
  The Process: Progressive and in Stages
  Natural Stages and Catechetical Stages
  Stages, History, and the “Narratio”
  Stages on the Road to Wisdom

PART 2: THE PEDAGOGY OF GOD AND
THE FOUR PARTS OF THE CATECHISM
5: Divine Pedagogy and Doctrinal Formation of Catechists,
  Bishop Richard J. Malone, STL, ThD ......................................................... 83
  Catechist Formation in General in Light of the Pedagogy of God
  Pedagogy of God in the Doctrinal Formation of Catechists
6: Divine Pedagogy in Christian Initiation, Rev. Manuel del Campo Guilarte... 95
   An Itinerary of Faith in Christian Initiation
   Itineraries of Christian Initiation
   Pastoral Functions in Christian Initiation
   Variables in the Itineraries of Christian Initiation

7: Divine Pedagogy and Moral Formation in Catechesis,
   Rev. Wojciech Giertych OP .................................................. 109
   Catholic Moral Theology Marked among Others by Aquinas
   Critique of This Vision
   Attentive Reading of Aquinas in the Light of Saint Paul
   In the Center: Life in the Spirit
   The Contents and Location of Catechetical Pedagogy

8: Divine Pedagogy in Prayer, Rev. Louis Menvielle ....................... 125
   I. Jesus, Master of Prayer
   II. The Prayer of Faith
   III. The Action of the Spirit

PART 3: CONSIDERATIONS FOR METHOD

9: The Pedagogy of God: Source and Model for the Pedagogy of the Faith,
   Waltraud Linnig.............................................................. 151
   The Divine Pedagogy and Its Characteristics
   The Divine Pedagogy and the Pedagogy of Faith
   The Participation of Mother Church in the Pedagogical Action of God the Father

10: Methodology in the Light of the Pedagogy of God, Caroline Farey .... 163

11: The Ecclesial Vocation of the Catechist, Sr. M. Johanna Paruch, FSGM... 171
   Theology and Catechesis
   Ecclesial as Christocentric
   The Catechist, Priesthood, and the Magisterium

About the Contributors .......................................................... 185
Appendix ................................................................. 187
Preface

This book, arising from an international catechetical conference held in Rome in 2009, examines what the Church, in her recent documents on catechesis, understands by “the pedagogy of God” and what the relationship is of this pedagogy to the discipline and practice of catechesis and to catechist formation. We hope that this volume will be particularly useful for catechetical leaders in the Church. The language of “the pedagogy of God” is not very familiar to many of us. As a result, it is not yet significantly influencing our approach to catechetics or our formation programs for catechists. Yet it is crucial. The pedagogy of God provides a framework for understanding the nature and purpose of catechesis: a close examination of the Congregation for the Clergy’s General Directory for Catechesis (1997) and of John Paul II’s Catechesi Tradendae (1979), in particular, enables us to see that this pedagogy provides us with universally valid principles that are the necessary foundations for the communication of Revelation. This focus upon the pedagogy of God is rooted in the current renewal of catechesis proposed by the Church. The retrieval of this concept is a key part of the more general theological ressourcement following the Second Vatican Council.

In this book, the central features of this pedagogy are traced, including some of the scriptural roots of the concept and its patristic development. The relationship of God’s pedagogy to catechetical formation is explored and implications are then traced into the concrete areas of doctrinal and moral formation, formation in prayer, sacramental and liturgical formation, and Christian initiation. Particular chapters focus upon implications of the pedagogy of God for the catechetical methods we employ and for the catechist’s understanding of his or her own vocation.

Where it seemed appropriate, the original style of a conference paper or address has been maintained. In other cases, some adjustments have been made to adapt the paper given at the Conference for this publication.

Many have collaborated on this project. The translation work by Anne Harriss, Anne St. John-Hall and Bernard Farrell-Roberts has been invaluable; and the work of Colleen Rainone at Franciscan University of Steubenville, with her kindly and patient reminders and proofreading of the text, has facilitated much of the process for completion. May this book serve the coming of God’s Kingdom as Christ was born of Mary in Bethlehem.